Harvest Vale U. F. A. Hold Monthly Meeting

Pass Resolutions in Connection With Problems.

A regular meeting of Harvest Vale U. F. A. was held last evening. There was a good attendance of members as well as a number of visitors from surrounding localities. Mr. W. C. Smith, M. L. A., for Empire constituency was also present and addressed the meeting. Mr. Smith was just starting on a tour through his constituency and resolutions concerning the districts problems or any complaints or suggestions from the locals should be forwarded to him before the next meeting of the legislature.

The following resolutions were passed: That the Bowell, East Springs, Bow Springs and Harvest Vale locals call special public meeting for the purpose appointing representatives to act on a grazing committee to deal with the Tilley East Area Commission re community leases.

Another resolution was passed requesting that the Tilley East Area Commission be disbanded and a new commission consisting of one farmer and one rancher of the district and a third to be selected by the government, be appointed.

That the old tax arrears be adjusted on the basis of present values plus 7 per cent. interest, and that the interest arrears on pre-emption be cancelled and no contract be allowed to finish his payments and take title.

That the policy of charging 5 per cent. half yearly on tax arrears be abolished and a more reasonable rate substituted.

Should the government decide to form a municipality in the East Area district, the meeting asked for local control with the right to Elect council who would be responsible to the government through the Dept. of municipal affairs.

That residents of Tilley East Area be granted second free homesteads.

That the maximum rate for grazing leases be 2c per acre, tax included.

That before long term leases are granted persons who may feel that they have not been justly dealt with should have their complaints investigated.

That all government agreements of sale of lands, grazing leases and other debts owing the government should be made payable in the fall of each year.

Another Good Show Coming to Cameo

Packed with thrills from first to last and given a directorial and photograph treatment that brings out its entertainment qualities to the utmost "Temple Tower," which will be shown at the Cameo next Wednesday will introduce screen fans to some thing new in the way of film farce.

The novel by H. C. McNeill is the latest and most successful of his series on "Building Drummond," and with Kenneth MacKenna in the role of the intricate ex-officer, director Donald Gallaher has produced a gripping and faithful version of the original story.

Imperial Bank Shows Good Strong Position

Balance Sheet Appears in This Issue of Review

Imperial Bank of Canada 66th Annual Statement has now been issued to the Shareholders and a copy of it will be found on another page of this issue. It is an exceedingly strong statement and one that will give the public of Canada new heart regarding the condition of business in their country. We know that business is below the records for 1928 and 1929, but the trouble with most of us is that we think it is so far below that there is no virtue in comparison. As a matter of fact, the Bank's figures stand comparison remarkably well, and the Bank has always been considered the best barometer of business over Canada as a whole.

The total asset of $148,000,000 indicates a shrinkage of only 4.14 per cent. The shrinkage appears chiefly in note circulation and non-interest bearing deposits. Interest-bearing deposits are only 3 per cent. less than a year ago and it must be borne in mind that all bank figures of a year ago are the highest on record in the history of Canadian banks. Deposits held for other banks show an increase of $4,500,000.

The profits of $1,424,081 as compared with profits of $1,561,561 of last year (highest on record) are down $137,480, or 8.8 per cent. Regular dividends of 42 per cent. plus a bonus of 1 per cent. have been paid, with all taxes provided for and the usual contributions to Pensions Fund and Officers' Guarantee Fund made, and the sum of $500,000 was written off Bank Premises, leaving a balance to carry forward in profit and Loss Account of $740,545, an increase of $21,581.

The report is thoroughly satisfactory regarding the condition of the Bank and generally reassuring regarding the situation of the country.

Report of Collections For the Bible Society

The officers of the local branch of the Canadian Bible Society take this opportunity of thanking all those who contributed to this fund during the recent annual canvass and would like to express their appreciation and thanks to the ladies who so faithfully carried out their work which resulted in $56.91 being collected. The collectors were as follows:

Mrs. J. Stratton and Mrs. E. Conn.	$18.00
Mrs. N. White and Miss Moore.	$14.00
Mrs. Lowens and Mrs. Teaster.	$6.75
Mrs. G. Davies	$6.56
Mrs. H. Tanner	$10.85
Total	$56.91

This amount has been forwarded to the Dis. Sec. Rev. H. D. Merr. Our appreciation and thanks is also extended to the Editor of Redcliff Review who each year so willingly helps the society so much by advertising same. Yours sincerely,

E. W. Cann, Sec-Treas.

Brick & Coal Social Was Great Success

Good Crowd Present and Splendid Evening's Program.

There was a jolly congenial crowd in attendance at the dance in CHRF Hall last Friday evening under the auspices of the Brick & Coal football Club and the evening's program was so successfully carried out by the committee that it was thoroughly enjoyed and most successful from every standpoint.

Progressive whist was first played and so large was the crowd that several additional tables were necessary before the game commenced. For this prizes up for competition and won as follows:

Ladies—Mrs. E. Sowerby, 1st and Mrs. Richardson, 2nd.

Gents—C. Wells, 1st and H. Leppard, 2nd.

Consolations—Mrs. Fairhurst and Mr. Anderson.

When the dance was well under way a "Spot Walts" was called. This was won by J. Wells and M. Jones.

An event which caused much excitement and almost had the judges baffled was the contest for the best Waltzers on the floor. It was finally worked down to two couples, Mr. and Mrs. H. Leppard and Jim Podesta and Mrs. Davidson. At that the judges could not decide and the lady partners were asked to cut the cards. Mrs. Leppard won the night.

O duty lunch was served at midnight after which dancing was continued for two hours.

As a result of their venture the club will have a tidy sum to augment their funds for next season.

Gordon Memorial W.M.S. Has Annual Meeting

Returns From Mile Boxes Was Very Gratifying.

The annual Thanksgiving meeting of the W.M. Society of Gordon Memorial Church was held in the School room on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 24. Mrs. Thacker presided. After a social hour and serving of refreshments there was a brief devotional period and then a Missionary play, "Shall we have Thanksgiving," was presented. Under the leadership of Mrs. E. H. Sellhorn, the Mission Band sang a new hymn and presented a play "The members of the Northwest," a section of the Mission Band under the leadership of Mrs. Allenback gave recitations.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation of a Life Membership Certificate to Mrs. James Stratton, and of three Mission Band Certificates to Effie and Jessie Stratton, two daughters of Mrs. Jas. Stratton and to Zeida Bamforth. A gratifying return was realized from the mile boxes and the Thanksgiving offering, and the Society will readily meet its allocation for the year.

Local Artist Heard Over Air Sunday

Last Sunday listeners in had the pleasure of hearing half Dutton sing a beautiful ballad song entitled "Joanna," written and composed by a young musician of Medicine Hat named Lawrence Bruce. Although new on the air requests were sent in from Medicine Hat, Calgary, Edmonton, Banff to have him sing again the same song but owing to a mistake in time he was unable to do so, but did sing "Just a Little Cheer" which was also rendered with wonderful feeling and Aids friends know why.

Do your Christmas Shopping in Town

Stores All Well Equipped For Festive Season.

On Christmas is only three weeks from today the question is, now, no doubt, uppermost in the minds of most of our readers.

For several months past people here and in other countries have been talking hard time and have been referring to the future as a hard winter ahead. While the Review looks upon a lot of this as just talk and an excuse for laying down on the job, yet since so many appear to have been stricken with this pessimistic germ we would advise that in making Christmas presents purchases the public buy useful articles which can be enjoyed in the home by all members of the family.

A look over the advertisements in this issue will show that our merchants are well stocked up with goods for this kind of purchases.

Let us all, on this Christmas occasion, show our loyalty to our town and its merchants by dealing at home just as much as possible. Its local merchants and business men who make it possible for us to carry on as a town.

It is the way contribute largely to the up keep of our School, Churches and other community organizations. In good times or bad they are called upon to contribute to all community enterprises and when the pinch comes they are frequently called upon to extend credit to those who in times have spent their money elsewhere.

Purchasers should not forget these things at any time, but more particularly at this season when extra purchases are being made and when the spirit of good will should permeate the whole atmosphere.

Take a look over the ads. in this issue and then make up your minds to do your shopping at home. It will simply be a case of "casting your bread up in the waters."

Petition to Have Highway Through Town

Is Now in Circulation and Being Liberally Signed.

Bill Evans, of the Redcliff Hotel was around town this week with a petition asking the provincial legislature to have the main highway go through town by way of Broadway and Third St. Bill met with great success. He says every man in town but one signed it.

When one thinks of the amount of money the provincial treasury gets out of Redcliff by way of Auto licenses, gasoline tax, supplementary revenue tax, amusement tax, theatre, dance hall, hotel and club licenses, it is only reasonable to expect the government to spend some of this money for the benefit of the town.

This is a matter which our local member and the member from the adjoining constituency should get behind and use their influence to get something for this town.

"The Rummage Sale" Proved Entertaining

Was Given in Gordon Memorial Last Tuesday.

The comedy "The Rummage Sale" put on in Gordon Memorial School room last Tuesday evening by talent from Fifth Avenue Church attracted a good audience and all were well pleased with the performance.

The play, was a take-off on the w "Rummage sale" on the market, was very funny and realistic. Those taking part were Medmore Teel, Bryan, Lynch, Downing, Dixon, Watson, Gibson, Hartley, Sr., Hartley J., Ryle, Reid, Bowker, O'Mera, Crittenden, Knight and Miss Taylor, Mrs. Scragg directing.

During the play a number of local hits were made much to the enjoyment of the Audience.

Outstanding feature of the program which followed the play were the recitations by Mr. Watson.

The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed. Before the singing of the National Anthem Rev. R. E. Pew, on behalf of Gordon Memorial, thanked the visitors for their splendid program.

Britain and a Wheat Preference

Whatever hopes may have been entertained by a considerable section of the Canadian people, our Western farmers in particular, that, as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference, the British Government would grant a preference to the wheat of the Dominions through the imposition of a Customs tariff on all foreign-grown wheat, have gone a glimmering with the definite announcement of Premier Ramsay MacDonald that the British Government will not take this action because it cannot be done.

The British Government is extremely anxious to help out the food producers of the Dominion. It is most desirous of promoting and developing Empire trade. It is willing to do everything it can, but it will not place a Customs tariff on the food of its own people because it cannot do so. As an alternative it is giving serious consideration to bulk purchasing of wheat by the Government with a view through such bulk purchasing to giving a preference to Empire-grown wheat.

Undoubtedly there will be regret and disappointment in this country over Britain's decision. It is to be hoped such feelings will not be allowed to develop into anything approaching bitterness or antagonism towards the Old Country. Canadians generally should strive to understand and appreciate the British position. They should realize the facts of the situation.

In Great Britain this is not a political issue in a partisan sense. Liberals, Conservatives and Labour are all of one mind that, whatever preferential policies may be evolved at this time, they cannot include taxation of food supplies. Mr. Baldwin, who is more favorably disposed towards adoption of a policy of tariffs than either Ramsay MacDonald or Lloyd George, nevertheless made it clear that he did not include tariffs on wheat and other food supplies and raw materials in his programme.

Here is the situation. Great Britain is a country small in area but with a large population. It raises only a small fraction of the food it people require. It is a highly industrialized country; yet the variety of its natural raw products for purposes of manufacturing industry is small and strictly limited. It acquires the world for food supplies and raw products in order that it may exist. In order to pay for such food supplies and raw materials it must sell its manufactured goods abroad. Taxing its food and raw materials would so increase costs of production that it could not compete with other nations engaged in manufacturing but which likewise possess large food producing areas and needed raw materials, as, for example, United States, Canada, Germany.

Now consider Britain's trade position with two countries, Canada and Argentina, by way of illustrating the position of the Old Country. Both countries have large surpluses of wheat for export; both are anxious to sell in the British market. Britain has two main articles she is anxious to export to large quantities—manufactured goods of all kinds and coal. The Argentine lacks coal and is prepared to purchase it from Britain in exchange for wheat. Canada, on the other hand, is rich in coal deposits and is averse to large importations of coal from Britain entering into competition with the Canadian miners. The Argentine is not a large manufacturing nation, and is prepared to purchase extensively in Britain, selling her wheat and meat products in exchange. Canada, on the other hand, is a manufacturing as well as an agricultural country. Its production of manufactured goods per head of population is one of the highest in the world. Canada is capable of manufacturing not only all the metals, textiles, boots and shoes, paper, automobiles, and a multitude of other articles required by her own people, but enjoys a large export trade in manufactures of all kinds. Canada, therefore, taken as a whole, is not anxious to take manufactured goods from Britain in exchange for wheat, meat and raw materials.

Therefore, notwithstanding a sentimental desire to favor Canada as a sister nation of the Empire, Britain simply cannot afford to impose a tariff against the Argentine and to call other articles required by her own people and investments in that country. As Premier Ramsay MacDonald has stated: "We cannot do it."

Nations are like individuals in many respects, but in no more essentially than in this matter. They can buy the goods they need, and where they can sell their own goods and products in payment for what they do buy. Denial may alter this to some extent, but it can never overcome it.

The American, North and South, are food-exporting, but not wheat. The big item is, in Australia, New Zealand, India, and so on, Russia being in the past and will be in the future. China and Japan need food, but the Argentine position of vast millions of their people is not such as to enable them to buy high priced wheat. The wheat exporting countries must, therefore, lower their prices. The Empire imported by war, unemployment, etc., burdened with enormous debt, no longer possesses the purchasing power to buy high priced imported food products. Her people are being forced to raise more grain for themselves, or go without. Their Governments are making drastic measures to prevent the exportation of money abroad which the nations must retain at home.

In the circumstances, what is Britain to do? Further restrict the markets for her manufactured goods by imposing tariffs against those countries which are prepared to buy from her in exchange for the sale of food products and raw materials, thus inflicting her own unemployment problem and at the same time increasing the cost of food to her people and of needed raw materials for her industry?

The British Labour Government says "it cannot be done." The British Liberal party says "it cannot be done." The British Conservative party is in favor of tariffs to "safeguard" British industries, says in regard to food and raw materials "it cannot be done." In regard to the economic question in a party sense in Great Britain it is an economic question. In Canada, whatever our sentiments, desires, interests, or political views and opinions may be, it is just and right that we should at least look at and appreciate the British point of view.

Boy Quite Sure King's Absence Would Not Disappoint His Parents

When the King was in Yorkshire on one occasion he promised to review a boys' brigade. At the last minute, however, His Majesty was forced to cancel the engagement, and a local notability was hastily substituted; but the managers of the affair thought it only right to notify ticket purchasers that His Majesty would not be present. Presently a small boy, who was to take part in the parade, came along with a request for two tickets for his parents. He was told of the disappointment in store for them. "Oh," said the lad, "they'll not be disappointed! It's not the King that father and mother are coming to see—it's me!"

Wild Life Valuable

Canada realizes quite a revenue each year from its wild life. According to Dr. H. P. Lewis, of the Department of the Interior, this wild life has a capital valuation of one billion dollars and a yearly business turnover of about $45,000,000. This valuation includes the fur harvest, game fish, and their influence on sales of sports goods.

Where eggs were anything but a dependable article of diet twelve or fifteen years ago, today Canadian eggs of the higher grades are looked upon as quite safe to offer anyone for breakfast and need not be looked upon as coming to the table. Northern Indians Need Help

Federal Government To Take Steps To Relieve Distress

Hon. T. O. Murphy, Minister of Interior, is taking immediate steps to relieve distress among Indians who have neither money nor food to carry them through the winter. Discussing the conditions of the Indians of the state, Mr. Murphy said that the Indians on the southern reserves, where agriculture is the main source of livelihood, are in fair shape for the winter months, and it is not expected that federal assistance will be needed.

On the northern reserves, where trapping is the only occupation, the Indians, in many cases, have had a bad year and are in urgent need of food. The problem, he intimated, was not a purely seasonal or extraordinary one. It is a matter of fact that the fur-bearing animals in these areas are rapidly disappearing as a result of operations of white trappers.

The Indians on these northern reserves are unable to catch enough for within the limits of the reservation to make a living, and they have been accustomed to trap over contiguous territory. These northern areas belong to the provinces. The federal government has no control over them.

The Indian, said Mr. Murphy, is a fur farmer, and does not exterminate wild life. But the white trappers who have gone into these areas, under provincial licenses, have had no regard for the preservation of wild life and have seriously depleted the numbers of fur-bearing animals. For this reason, many of the northern tribes are now in distress.

The Indian affairs branch of the interior department, under instruction from Mr. Murphy, is making a rapid survey of the situation and relief will be given at an early date.

More Cigarettes Used

Report Shows People In United States Consuming More

The people of the United States are smoking more and more cigarettes. Last year they consumed about 900 per cent more cigarettes, and the reports for the first eight months of this year show an excess over the same period of 1925 of 200,000,000. Benjamin D. Hill, chief of the tobacco division of the Department of Commerce, assumed that the increase will continue until the end of the year.

In times of business depression or periods of great stress, it has been the experience of the tobacco industry, that consumption of cigarettes increases.

Advancement Made In Canada For Providing Indian Population With High Standard of Education

(By Russell T. Ferrier, Superintendent of Indian Education.)

Great advancement has been made in Canada, particularly in late years, in providing our Indian population with a high standard of educational and vocational training. Through the aid of increased appropriations by Parliament during that time, the Department of Indian Affairs has been enabled to enlarge existing buildings and construct more modern and first-class schools whilst higher salaries and grants have attracted better-qualified teachers and instructors.

There are now 76 residential schools and 372 day schools, making a total of 300 centres of Indian educational activity. The total number of pupils is now 13,743, the average attendance being 11,575, constituting an increase during the past ten years of 28 per cent in enrollment, and 18 per cent in attendance, ample evidence of the success of the work in preparing Indian children to become self-reliant and self-supporting citizens of the Dominion.

The residential schools are conducted by the Anglican, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, and United churches, and high tribute must be paid to the zeal and self-sacrifice of those engaged in the work. The Department has had the close co-operation of religious bodies in the education of the Indians, and this well-established policy has demonstrated beyond all question the effectiveness of the system.

The formal opening of the modern residential school at Brandon, Manitoba, on July 18, 1930, added another unit to the fine system of Indian educational institutions throughout the Dominion. It will be administered by the United Church of Canada and will have as its principal the Reverend T. A. Doyle, D.D., who succeeds the veteran educator the Reverend Thompson Ferrier.

This school, which replaces the residential school built on the same site in 1894, is one of the finest of its kind in Canada. Built of tapestry brick with trim of granite, limestone, and terrazzo floors, it is fireproof throughout. Some idea of the accommodation afforded may be gleaned from the fact that it has a fine large assembly hall, four dormitories, four class-rooms, a large study room, recreation room for both girls and boys, sewing room, sunroom, hospital ward with nurses' quarters, also a laundry equipped with the most modern hygienic appliances.

Adjacent to the school are a number of first-class farm buildings, one of which, the cow-barn, is one of the finest in Manitoba. There are, also, four residences for the use of the principal and married members of the staff.

The institution has a landscape setting, which places it on a par with some of the finest schools and colleges of the older provinces. This school draws its pupils from a wide radius, owing to the scattered location of the reserves. Residential schools are required because many of the Indians are engaged in occupations such as hunting, fishing, freighting, and trapping, which take them away from their homes; and even the farms of those engaged in agriculture are not in solid blocks, as in white settlements, but are strung out along rivers and lakes, thus making it impossible to provide day-school accommodation for the major portion of them.

The curriculum provides academic instruction equivalent to the second year in high school. In addition the girls are given a thorough training in domestic science, and the boys, a course in agriculture, together with elementary training in carpentry, blacksmithing and the operation of internal combustion engines, sufficient to enable them to apply it in a practical manner in modern farm life.

While every possible effort is made to impart a sound academic and industrial education, special attention is given to the health of the pupils. During the years spent in the residential schools medical treatment is provided, which, with a balanced diet, and supervised recreation, assists in the building up of a robust constitution.

Under the care and tutelage of the Department of Indian Affairs the prairie Indian has now become a successful agriculturist. The official reports for 1928 show that 63,104 acres, in the Prairie Provinces alone, were sown to grain, from which were garnered 63,104 bushels. In addition, 971 acres were planted to root crops from which 61,448 bushels were harvested; and 87,766 tons of hay and other fodder were produced.

Daylight and Twilight

Hours of Day and Night Nearly Equal At The Equator

In the tropics, near the equator, nearly equal hours of day and night obtain the year round. The extremely short twilight which is found to this locality is proverbial. Kipling's lines picture the dawn coming like the thunder but generally speaking in the temperate zone there is nearly an hour from the exact time of sunset until it becomes totally dark. Twilight, the transition period between daylight and darkness, increases in length as one goes north or south of the equator. It has been stated that in the 4,758 hours which make up a year, there are at the equator 4,758 hours of daylight, 4,664 twilight and 4,400 night; while at the poles the proportion changes to 4,450 hours of daylight, 4,664 twilight and 4,192 night. — Christian Science Monitor.

Egg Laying Contest

Eleventh Canadian Contest Is Concluded At Ottawa Experimental Farm

Championship of the 11th Canadian egg laying contest, which has just concluded at the central experimental farm at Ottawa, goes to a pen of white Leghorns, owned by Richard and Green, of Harrington Park, Preston, England. Second place honors went to the W. P. Thompson, of Birch Hills, with a pen of barred Plymouth Rocks, while third place was taken by a pen of Rhode Island Reds, owned by J. K. Dugan, of University of British Columbia. The contest was held over a fifty-two week period.

The best laying individual bird in the contest was a Rhode Island Red "W.P. 226," entered by Dan Russell, New Westminster, B.C. It compiled a total score of 287.8 points for 249 eggs.

Second individual honors went to a barred Plymouth Rock "No. 282," entered by Frank Thompson, Farm, Morton, Pa., with a total score of 284.9 points for 248 eggs. Third place was taken by a white Leghorn, "No. 324," entered by J. K. Dugan, Cobblehill, B.C., total score 283.7 points for 244 eggs.

Scores of the leading pens in the length contest follow: Richard Green, Harrington Park, England, pen No. 1, scored 1,714.6 points; J. 1,004 eggs; Mrs. W. J. Thompson, pen No. 18 (second), 2,174.6 points; J. 1,004 eggs; and J. K. Dugan, pen No. 33, 2,163.3 points for 2,174 eggs.

The fact that the English pen won the championship although the second and third honor birds had a better total laying performance than the winners, is explained by the rules of the contest under which the size and weight of the eggs score in the point scoring.

Out of a total of 800 scoring entries in the 50 pens which made up the contest, only 141 were registered during the year.

Four Ayrshire Heifer Calves Go To Experimental Station

Four Ayrshire heifer calves which were purchased by Capt. Dan Waters of Flintry, B.C., at the recent draft of Ayrshires at the University of British Columbia, have been offered to and accepted by Dr. E. B. Archibald, Director of Experimental Farms on behalf of the Dominion Experimental Station at Winnipeg, B.C. These four heifers—Auchtermurphy's Fannie, Muncey's Valentine's Polly, Netherhall's Lovely Maudie, and Netherhall's Majestic Beauty were all imported in dam and are of exceptionally good breeding.

Great Ayrshire Cow

High Record Of Milk Production From One At 14 Months

The H.C.P. report of Tullochroon Dorothy (58101), owned by the Experimental Farms at Indian Head, shows this Ayrshire to have given 15,831 pounds of milk, 800 pounds of butterfat in 14 months and 300 milkings a day in the mature class, honor roll record. This is the highest record so far this year in this class and Dorothy's third consecutive record.

Open New C.P.R. Offices

Handsome new offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway have just opened at Cascade Avenue and Chubb Street, Windsor, Ont. Above lay-out shows the location of these offices, the opening of which was made the occasion of a large gathering of C.P.R. men from every department of the company's activities as well as of representative citizens from Windsor. Inset shows the ribbon that served to tie the front entrance of the building.

Canadian Hay Crop

Ample Supply In Sight In Most Of The Provinces

The need branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports the total hay yield in Canada for this year is likely to be slightly less than in 1929. They find, however, that an ample supply is in sight in most of the provinces and a substantial exportable surplus is promised. The quality of the 1930 crop is well above average, particularly with respect to color.

The hay yield in the Maritime Provinces is expected to exceed last year with a large surplus for export, particularly of timothy and dyke hay. Prince Edward Island cut a good crop and the combined surplus of the Maritime Provinces is placed at 35,000 tons.

The Quebec hay acreage was about the same as in 1929, but the yield per acre was greater. There is expected to be about 200,000 tons available for commercial use.

The hay crop in eastern and northern Ontario shows a big gain with about 75,000 tons over local requirements. Western Ontario had only a 75 per cent crop and the commercial surplus of alfalfa will be limited to about 3,500 tons.

In western Canada, Manitoba and northwestern Ontario put up 30 per cent more hay than last year, sufficient to meet all local demand. The Pas district has large quantities of slough hay, which will be available to the drought areas of the west.

In Saskatchewan, the hay situation is even more difficult than it was last year, while in Alberta slough and alfalfa were a good crop, with wild hay below average. Alberta will have about 3,700 tons of hay for sale. The British Columbia crop is variable but estimated to be sufficient to take care of the needs of the province.

Detailed information with respect to the hay crop of Canada may be obtained from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Apples and Potatoes

Revised Estimate Of Apple and Potato Production Throughout Canada

The final revised estimate on apple and potato production throughout Canada, prepared by the markets extension division of the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, places the apple crop this year at a total of 3,165,590 barrels. This is well up to the five-year average while nearly 700,000 barrels below last year's crop. British Columbia shows an estimated increase in production of about 450,000 barrels, while Nova Scotia's crop is about 600,000 barrels, below last year.

Canada's potato crop is estimated at 67,262,400 cwt., an increase of approximately 7,200,000 cwt., or ten per cent, over last year.

The onion crop in British Columbia is reported to have matured very well, but to be considerably lacking in size. The estimated yield is placed at 10,360 tons. The Ontario onion crop estimated at 18,000 tons has matured under favorable conditions and is 20.5 per cent greater than in 1929.

Says Security Of Our Future Depends On The Courage Of Farmers Of Western Canada

Screening Feeds Officially Graded

Low Prices Should Make Them Profitable For The Farmer

Canadian farmers will be particularly interested in the following statement issued by the seed branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Screenings shipped for feed from terminal elevators are now being sold under grade certificates, under the new grade standards and designations provided by the Canada Grain Act or regulations thereunder.

Standard reclaimed screenings, consisting essentially of broken wheat and wild buckwheat, are now designated "No. 1 Feed Screenings."

The quantity and quality of these screenings which, in addition to the wheat and wild buckwheat, may carry appreciable quantities of wild oats and coarse grasses, is designated "No. 2 Feed Screenings." This grade also carries a slightly greater tolerance of mill must than No. 1 grade, and would be especially serviceable for feeding sheep.

A screening formerly known as "Oat Screenings" and consisting mainly of wild oats, but with small percentages of domestic oats and barley is now designated "Mixed Feed Oats."

Terminal elevators, needed for the storage of grain, are carrying substantial quantities of these grain by-products which are, in consequence, being sold at much lower than usual prices. Mixtures of barley and wild oats, freely ground, are available at 40 cents per cwt., sack including delivered at Montreal, Sorel and Quebec.

Any danger from the presence of weed seeds in these nutritious grain by-products would be corrected reasonably well by fine grinding with blue power hammer grinders, and if fed, together with the low prices at which they are now available should be most profitable to the Canadian feeder, even at the present low prices for animal products.

Soil Improvement Train

Campaign In Quebec For Securing Greater Yields

A soil improvement train has just completed its third week's itinerary through southeastern Quebec, having started at Cookstown on September 14th and finished at Vercheres on October 4th.

The train was organized by the Quebec Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Agricultural Colleges in the province, the seed branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the C.N.R.

The purpose of the campaign now under way in Quebec for securing greater yields from a more intelligent and more general use of agricultural lime and commercial fertilizers.

Of the four coaches which made up the train, the first was used as a laboratory where samples of soil, brought in by visiting farmers, were tested for acidity, and recommendations in terms given as to the approximate quantities of lime required according to the results of the acidity tests.

The second car was devoted to demonstrating the advantages from the proper use of agricultural lime and the third of commercial fertilizers, while the fourth was the lecture car in which lectures were given by the officials in charge on the value of agricultural lime and commercial fertilizers.

Upwards of 10,000 farmers visited the train in the course of its tour and about 5,000 soil samples were tested.

Glasgow Port Opened For Cattle Shipments

Rate Is $15.00 Per Head From Canadian Atlantic Ports

Two important developments in the cattle export trade occurred when Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, announced that the steamship companies had agreed to open service from Canadian Atlantic ports to Glasgow at a rate of $15 per head.

Heretofore, the cattle boats had gone to Liverpool. Mr. Weir has got the shipping companies to fall into line on ocean rates, at a level of $15 per head. One of them had been charging $20.

He regards the opening of the Glasgow port, centre of a large feeding area, as of importance. The Scottish cattlemen, he said recently, are more interested in buying feed stock, while the Liverpool trade desires fat cattle ready for killing.

A total of 18,029,973 telegrams was transmitted and received in Canada in 1929, an increase of 1,172,758 over 1928. There are 300,883 miles of telegraph lines in Canada.

A working man's family depends on the average, $140 a year on doctor's bills and other medical expenses, according to a statement from the U.S. Department of Labor.

THURSDAY, DEC. 4th., 1930

A considerable increase in grain shipments from Saint John has already been established since the new year, over the entire month of December, 1929. General Superintendent J. Woodman, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, states. Bunches of grain for December export from Saint John totaled 99,257; from January 1 to January 17, total was 631,435.

The second annual Sea Music Festival of the Pacific Coast passed into history January 19, when once again capacity houses greeted the final offerings. Outstanding among the features were the two ballad operas, "The Order of Good Cheese", incorporating French-Canadian sea chanteys of the 18th century, and "Bound for the Rio Grande", a rollicking sea-song played by Captain Frederick Wallace. Each of these was repeated by request on three successive days.

The 16th annual winter carnival with the first official Western Canada Ski tournament will be held at Revelstoke, February 4-5. World records have been made on the hill at Revelstoke, and leading skiers of the continent will attend the carnival.

The outstanding contributions that the Canadian Pacific Railway has made to the life of the Dominion in an industrial and cultural way were emphasized by E. W. Hearty, chairman and president of the Canadian Industrial Traffic League at Montreal recently. His company, he said, had in the past five years, spent over $20,000,000 on capital account alone and during the same period had built over 1,800 miles of branch line and with its decrease in earnings, he regarded as an exceptional year not likely to be repeated in subsequent years.

"But—that's it," she said with sudden courage. "Did you hear what that dear old man said to me to-night? He said: 'Give him plenty of rope to run on.' And you'd be free without me, Nick, on this wonderful trip—"

"A thousand times better! You've been my happiest week of my whole life. Only—only I should want you to come back to me again."

Nick looked at her. The moon was so bright that he saw distinctly the curve of her lips, and the soft, dark hair above her brow. Something in her nearness made him curiously heartless, and she misinterpreted his silence.

"I could go back," she hesitated, "and—when you got tired of training (and I suppose you would) the most confirmed vagabond has such moments), why—I'd be waiting, and—"

—and glad to see you.

She could no longer control the tremble in her voice, and the sound awakened Nick from the trance her words had brought upon him.

"So that's your problem?" he said quietly. "Well, my precious little wife, I'm relieved to hear that you'd be glad to see me! For just a moment I wondered if you were weary of my vagabond. As for myself, Gay, I don't care for that long rope, it's so long that I can't see you at the other end. I don't want my freedom without you to share it. I know I'm a kid in a lot of ways, too—too much of a kid to know how dirty I loved you, even a week ago. But I know now. So answer your problem, doesn't it?"

He would have kissed her, but she moved from him a space, and said, her voice still trembling: "Oh, Nick! you are always so sure. Are you never afraid of—Life?"

"No," Nick answered. He sat quite still, looking down the moonlit shadows in the valley. "No," he repeated. "Perhaps if I were a woman—"

—still. — my mother was not afraid. It was she who made me see life as I do. She was a poet, my mother. She didn't often put her poetic rancies into words; but the night she died . . .

"Again Nick seemed lost in thought; but as Gay's hand slipped into his he clasped it hungrily, and said: 'I've never told this, Gay, even to Aunt Nettie, who knew all my secrets. My mother called me to her, because, . . .'

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Colony, Ontario—"Years ago when I had a sick father and a nursing baby to care for, I got all run down, and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me good. I feel like I'm a new woman."

Change of Life. I am 45 years old and feel like I'm a new woman. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did me good. I feel like I'm a new woman."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is recommended to any woman who is in the age when she needs it. It is the only medicine that does this.

desperately to be honest. "Oh, dear, I'm not afraid. Oh, Nick!" she cried, and faced him, her eyes like stars. "Oh, Nick, life is so wonderful! Just now I'm not afraid of anything!"

CHAPTER IV.

Gay did not know that she touched one of life's mountain-peaks when she spoke those words. Later she was to understand, and look back upon that hour as something precious. For life's big moments do not last. Their beauty perishes like the beauty of a rose, leaving only a fragrance and a memory.

Standing there in the moonlight with Nick's arm about her, Gay felt a sense of security and happiness that in his ignorance of life, she thought must last forever. Nick loved her; and she was not afraid! Nothing would ever make her afraid again; yet four months later, when they stood together on another hillside, fear stared at him—not fear for herself and the big mystery before her self, but fear that because of it Nick's coveted freedom was at an end.

It had been a glorious four months. Leaving the "rusty diver" to Uncle Bartlett, they had gone forth on foot because Gay wouldn't let Nick change his long-laid plans.

"That's right," the old man said at parting. "It'll be happier to do just what he's got out to do; and, as the railroad to bring you back if either of you gets sick or caved in on the job, I can't say I ain't advise you to spend any Nick's necessary; but he's got a full bookcase. If you need more'n you'll let it be glad to supply you till it's convenient to pay."

"This mighty kind of you," Nick answered, "I think I've enough to see us through, thanks to my little lady get tucked out. If she does, just ship her back to me and I'll be glad to look after her while you're gallivanting round the world. Good-bye, m'am. I'd be pleased to have you drop me a card from every now and then."

"I shan't forget to," Gay promised; then added, as something within his eyes caught at her heart, "Will you kiss me good-bye in place of it, so you'll guarantee it won't make too hard feelings between Nick and me? Good-bye, children. Don't forget you Uncle Sam when you're off a-conquering in the universe."

Nick grinned.

Settlers Abroad May Keep Insurance in Britain
The British Ministry of Health has issued a notification, reminding settlers, who have left Great Britain or Northern Ireland, within the last year or two, that under the British Pension Act, which came into force at the beginning of the year, they may be entitled equally with those, who have recently gone overseas, to revive or keep up their insurance for the purpose of securing pensions and benefits for themselves and their dependents.

Restless CHILDREN
CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Calumet's Baby Rub on the wrapper, mild and bland in its action. But children grow restless, a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special remedy, it may be given at any time, in any place, in any condition of health. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation, or show any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever the pure vegetable preparation is usually all well, or have little trouble.

And still Gay did not speak. She arose with a gesture that brought her to her side, and they stood together looking off at a scene of moonlit beauty that might, indeed, have been "the end of the earth."

And then she answered.

"No," she said, slowly, as if trying

Says India Will Remain Loyal

People of India as a Whole Will Remain Loyal
"It is my belief that if we continue the administration of India in a sound and satisfactory way, being sympathetic to her aims but at the same time demanding the loyalty of the people of India as a whole will remain steadfastly loyal to Great Britain, and we need not worry about the agitators who are trying to stir up trouble." This was the conviction expressed by Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, before the members of the United Services Institute at Halifax, whose guest he was at luncheon.

Viscount Willingdon referred to the mutinies placed on him, as a speaker by his position, and remarked that he had "become almost a genius in speaking on nothing for a quarter of an hour."

His reference to India was made while touching upon the contribution made by the dominions in war, and of the present spirit of corps of the land, sea and air forces of Canada. India, too, he made mention during the war, sending a million men to various fronts.

"One of the most important and critical conferences ever held," was his excellent view of the Imperial Conference of 1926.

"Touching on the general situation in Canada the governor-general said he was perfectly convinced the present depression would soon pass away, and I know anything of the spirit of the dominions people I know that this dominion will stand on with the sound and solid progress that has brought about the great development of this country."

Wartime Memories

British Foreign Office Would Discourage Perpetuation of Memories

The British foreign office, wishing to discourage the perpetuation of memories of wartime antagonisms, has issued a statement to all European governments that henceforth, memorial wreaths should not be laid on cenotaphs or tombs of unknown soldiers during official visits.

The Labor Government has issued no formal announcement of this, but it is confirmed by the department officials. The government, feels that a formal international intercourse the less emphasis on war the better.

An Oil War All Men! The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberjack, the farmer, the miner, the stockman are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. E. J. Drake's Life Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve cold, dress wounds, soothe lumbago and overcome rheumatism. It is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicine chests and be amongst those taken on a journey.

Still Entitled To Pension

Settlers Abroad May Keep Insurance in Britain

The British Ministry of Health has issued a notification, reminding settlers, who have left Great Britain or Northern Ireland, within the last year or two, that under the British Pension Act, which came into force at the beginning of the year, they may be entitled equally with those, who have recently gone overseas, to revive or keep up their insurance for the purpose of securing pensions and benefits for themselves and their dependents.

If, however, they left the country before January 2, 1930, they must apply to the Ministry of Health, London, England, before the end of this year. The full facts of their case should be set forth in writing in order that the ministry may decide whether the person is eligible for pension or benefits.

Cattle Sales

The Annual Livestock Market and Meat Trade Review published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, shows that during 1929 a total of 799,436 head of cattle were sold in Canada. This is a substantial increase above the figure for any of the preceding five years. The total for 1928 was 778,000 head, or the like, sales of 17,800 head. Toronto led the cattle trade with a total of 248,000 head, while Montreal sold 148,000 head in the calf trade with a total of 138,200.

Text Book Controversy

U.S. Text Book Used In Australia Described As Insulting

A United States text book—Hayes and Moon's Modern History—adopted as a standard book in the state of Victoria, Australia, has become the centre of a controversy. The Australian Natives' Association, a national organization of Australian-born citizens, has protested against the book, describing it as biased, untrue, and insulting. State Minister of Education, Leemon, is threatened with opposition at the next elections if he does not withdraw the book.

In particular the Australian Natives' Association say the following two statements are falsifications of the truth and an insult to British and Australian troops:

"The British collected a motley army, composed chiefly of coloured troops, and landed it on the tip of Gallipoli Peninsula, close to the Dardanelles."

"The United States was the only great power that fought in the war without demanding or even desiring territorial gains for herself. She should be credited with a fortitude of purpose and unselfishness that could hardly be matched in all history."

The Japanese Method

Government Makes Law Which May Reduce Grade Crossing Accidents

Japan is having trouble with grade crossings. More accidents are being caused by motorists attempting to beat trains across intersections. The government has decided to make it compulsory for motorists to stop at grade crossings, and to make it compulsory for trains to stop at grade crossings. This will be done by adding to the existing laws, and to make it compulsory for motorists to stop at grade crossings, and to make it compulsory for trains to stop at grade crossings.

His train will have no claim on any railway company, public or private. The government has decided to make it compulsory for motorists to stop at grade crossings, and to make it compulsory for trains to stop at grade crossings. This will be done by adding to the existing laws, and to make it compulsory for motorists to stop at grade crossings, and to make it compulsory for trains to stop at grade crossings.

Crying Babies Are Sickly Babies

The well child does not cry. He is laughing and happy all the time. Baby's cry of distress is the only means he has of telling his mother or nurse he is ill. Mothers, you can keep your little one well and happy by giving them Baby's Own Tablets.

The safe and efficient remedy for all childhood ailments. Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but powerful laxative. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels; and thus health constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever; and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are a safe medicine for all children, and can be taken at any time, and in any quantity.
